

May 20, 2011

The Port of Argentia is rapidly ramping up to what is about to be the busiest shipping season for some time.

Barge traffic has already begun. This traffic will be in addition to regular shipping such as containers, salt, cement, steel and fish products.

Fabrication facilities have been established both inside and outside port properties. The end products constructed will add to shipping schedule intensity throughout the early summer and fall season.

Other products are scheduled to support offshore activities, shipping or aggregates and many others which are in the planning stages for late this year and future years.

The Port of Argentia is poised to provide efficient, effective service to all our customers so that all projects can be brought to a customer satisfied conclusion while enabling shippers and contractors to engage in profitable enterprise.

